

George H. Earle
Helps To Clear
Franz Von Papen
Of War Crimes

Nuernberg, Germany, Jan. 26 (AP)—Franz Von Papen, the old fox of diplomacy in Hitler's reich, was set free today by a German denazification court.

The court reversed his previous conviction as a major Nazi offender, the worst type of Nazi, under which he was serving an eight year sentence in a labor camp. It convicted him of being only an offender, the second category of Nazism.

The court said it's action was strongly influenced by an affidavit filed by George H. Earle, former diplomat, who was governor of Pennsylvania from 1935 to 1939.

Released Immediately
Von Papen, Hitler's former ambassador to Austria and Turkey, had been imprisoned since the end of the war. The court, in ordering his immediate release, held this was enough punishment.

The court also reduced his fine to 30,000 Deutsche marks ($9,000), in the first trial in April, 1947, his entire fortune except 5,000 marks was confiscated.

The court's ruling barred the international known diplomat from ever holding office, the right to vote, the right to join a political party and from jobs influencing public opinion, such as writing and speaking.

This was the third trial for Von Papen, who is 69. He first was tried by the Nuernberg international military tribunal in 1945-46 and was acquitted of war crimes. He was immediately arrested by the Germans for trial before a denazification court. He appealed the sentence in that trial on January 18.

Second Nazi Freed
Von Papen was the second alleged top Nazi to be freed by the Germans.

Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Nazi banking system, was acquitted last September in a re-trial after once being sentenced to eight years imprisonment as a major Nazi offender. He is scheduled for another trial beginning next Monday.

Hans Fritzsche, acquitted of war crimes along with Von Papen and Schacht, is still serving a nine year denazification sentence given him by a German court.

During the war Earle was special envoy on Balkan questions for the late President Roosevelt. His affidavit said Von Papen "Made strong efforts to secure peace" and that his "successful efforts to keep Turkey neutral probably prevented a smashing attack by Turkey and Germany against Cairo."

Refutes Earle's Claim
The Turkish consul in Frankfurt, Orhan Tahsin Guenden, today issued a statement in answer to Earle's claim.

The consul said: "I hardly need to remind that in World War II Turkey was allied with the power that was defending Egypt against the late German Field Marshal Rommel. An attack by Turkish forces on Cairo coupled with the attack of the German Field Marshal is therefore a thing which even the most imaginative Nazi war lords would not be justified in expecting."

"As to Turkey's being influenced to remain neutral, it will be remembered that she was non-belligerent and not neutral."

"This policy of non-belligerence, which spared the Middle East a disaster of major proportions, was inspired by foresight and prudence rather than the overtures of a well-meaning foreign diplomat."

Here And There
News Collected At Random

Typographical errors, the plague of editors, but the delight of newspaper readers for the "laughs" they afford, are no respecters of persons or professions.

In the current issue of Medical Economics, national business magazine for physicians, a rich harvest of printing blunders at the expense of doctors is collected under the heading "Mispaints with a Medical Slant."

One of the classic examples is the one first printed by the St. Louis (Mo.) Globe-Democrat. It reads: "The physician felt the patient's purse and decided that there was no hope."

Typographical errors with provocative twists abound in the Medical Economics compilation. There is, for example, the Whicita (Kan.) Eagle's report of a Kansas surgeon who was quitting active practice: "Dr. S., one of our most eligible bachelors, is retiring from practice. Hale and hearty at 65, the doctor says all he wants is a little peach and quiet."

MISS M'MILLAN IS HONORED BY SOROPTIMISTS

The Soroptimist club paid tribute, at its dinner meeting at the Shetter House, Tuesday evening, to the long service of Miss Margaret McMillan, who recently retired as executive secretary of the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross after more than 30 years of service to this and other welfare and relief agencies. Miss McMillan was a guest of the club and was introduced by Mrs. Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale, president, who served as toastmaster.

Mrs. Griest read a resume of Miss McMillan's services since her affiliation with the Red Cross in April, 1917. Home service was established by her on a part time basis in 1918 with other duties, including a membership on the Welfare Association board and county probation officer.

Reviews Record
From February, 1937, all her time was devoted to Red Cross work. Mrs. Griest said that Miss McMillan aided in pioneering help to the blind, assistance to crippled children and mental health clinics. Miss McMillan "had a hand" in conducting the annual roll call as a Red Cross official, as well as having charge of a number of special fund-raising campaigns for various emergencies, both at home and abroad, over the years. Her assistance to families all over the county, parents of veterans, began in World War I and, with the coming of World War II, went on a 24-hour-a-day schedule to help veterans' families receive necessary messages. Many of those sons aided by her in the last conflict were sons of those she assisted during the first war.

Miss McMillan, who resigned as executive secretary of the chapter last November, continues her interest in the Red Cross as a volunteer worker. She addressed the group and said, "I did what I loved to do (Please Turn To Page 2)

Red Cross Official Declares
County Chapter Is Ready To Serve In Any Major Disaster

If disaster strikes in Adams county, the Red Cross will be ready to perform its traditional services of assisting all agencies and relieving human suffering and discomfort. Miss Ruth Curtis, area Red Cross representative from Alexandria, Va., told 50 county Red Cross workers at the court house Tuesday evening that the county chapter has "a fine disaster preparedness plan for the entire county."

With Glenn L. Bream, disaster committee chairman for the county chapter, presiding, Miss Curtis outlined the general Red Cross plans for disaster preparedness that have been followed in setting up the county organization "for prompt, efficient action if and when the need arises."

Serve In Emergencies
Miss Curtis said disasters in which Red Cross committees would be called upon to serve would be catastrophes in which numbers of people would be plunged into suffering. She pointed out that catastrophes of some magnitude not only involve loss of life and injuries but usually—as in the case of a tornado or great fire—would bring housing emergencies and cut off or impair transportation and communication facilities.

"Red Cross activities in such disasters are primarily those involving individuals but in some cases overlap or supplement the duties regularly performed by governmental agencies such as police, firemen and health officials," the speaker explained.

She described Red Cross functions in disasters as including an immediate and continuing survey of the extent of the disaster, the needs involved and the performance of rescue service by aiding police and firemen through coordinating facilities. Food, shelter, clothing and medical needs for the emergency also are Red Cross responsibilities, she explained, while other committees serve on transportation and communication, public information, central supply purchasing and registration and information assignments.

Cites Basic Policies
The two basic policies on which Red Cross disaster services are performed are these, Miss Curtis said: "In a disaster no money is loaned. It is always given as a grant and cannot be paid back as a debt. The Red Cross meets only emergency relief needs or those continuing needs that cannot be handled by the individual or established public agencies. Relief is given only for disaster-caused needs."

Miss Curtis also told the group that the Red Cross contemplates meeting only peace-time disasters and could not cope with or handle wartime disasters.

Before introducing Miss Curtis, Mr. Bream briefly outlined disaster plans here and introduced his three assistant chairmen: Arthur R. Buehler, George A. Bender and George A. Albee. He also introduced Mrs. Elizabeth Pennington, executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter here; Miss Reida Longenecker, her assistant; Mrs. Albert Bachman, chapter chairman; her assistant, Mrs. Earl Bowen; Mrs. E. S. Lewars, former chapter chairman, and Miss Margaret McMillan, former executive secretary.

Today Miss Curtis continued her meetings with individual committees on disaster relief work, a series that began Tuesday morning.

Winebrenner Says Gas Tanks
Not Under His Jurisdiction

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner today said that he had supplied Dewey E. McCauslin with all the information pertaining to regulations under the jurisdiction of his department in connection with the erection of a new garage building on York street, and that the installation of gasoline tanks did not come within the province of the borough engineer's department.

The work of completing the erection of the garage and the opening of McCauslin's new service station has been held up, McCauslin said, by orders from Burgess C. A. Heiges, who said that the McCauslin garage was within the fire zone, in which installation of storage tanks other than for fuel oil, or more than 50 gallons capacity, is prohibited.

Mr. Winebrenner's Statement
Mr. Winebrenner explained his version as follows:

"Last July Mr. McCauslin asked me to survey the Taughinbaugh lot on York street, which I did. At that time he presented me with his plans for his new garage, for application for a building permit.

"The plans met the requirements of the borough's building ordinance, therefore, they were approved and turned over to the burgess for a permit to be issued. The plans did not include any gas tanks or gas pumps. At the same time he asked about regulations for sewer connections which I gave, telling him this required two permits, one for tapping and one for digging that would have to be secured from the burgess.

"I asked him if he intended to put driveways over the sidewalk which he said he did. I told him there were regulations on these which would have to be met, giving him the regulations at the time and that a permit for such driveways would have to be secured from the burgess.

"All of the above permits come under my department and regulations, and I gave him all the information that there is on the same.

"He mentioned about a gasoline storage, I told him that I didn't know the ordinance, as that is under fire regulations and not under my jurisdiction, but I was almost sure it required a permit; that before he started any of his work he should go to the burgess and get all of his permits. I have just checked with the burgess, and to date Mr. McCauslin has secured only one permit, that being for the building.

"I don't believe there has been anyone in the borough who has asked for information regarding regulations that come under the borough engineer that I haven't given my fullest cooperation."

BOARD IS TOLD
STATE MAY GIVE
BUILDING FUNDS

A possibility that the current session of the state legislature may authorize state aid for school construction was outlined Tuesday evening by Assistant County Superintendent of Schools C. I. Raffensperger at a meeting of the Adams county school board at Banker's restaurant.

Raffensperger read letters from state officials in which they stated their belief that the state will pass some legislation providing for partial payment by the state under certain circumstances to school districts to permit them to construct needed new school buildings. Between $80,000,000 and $100,000,000 will be spent on new school buildings in the state in the near future, Raffensperger said, and at present the Legislature is being asked to provide some aid in the form of yearly "rental" allowances to help school boards pay for the construction.

Raffensperger also added that bills are being introduced in the state legislature to simplify the operation of joint school systems.

Back Worley Bill

Members of the board expressed themselves as in full agreement with a law proposed by Representative Francis Worley that traffic be required to stop when school buses stop. Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh pointed out: "The time to have such a law is now, and not later after a car kills or badly injures some child leaving a school bus."

Gettysburg Superintendent of Schools Dr. Lloyd C. Keefeauver, and County Agent M. T. Hartman, who were guests of the board at the dinner meeting were praised by Superintendent Slaybaugh for their accomplishments. Dr. Keefeauver, Slaybaugh said, "has developed an outstanding school system at Gettysburg." He praised Hartman for his educational work through the 4-H club activities.

Richard C. Lighter, supervisor of agricultural education for the county and supervisor of the veterans' agricultural training program, reported on activities of those groups.

This talk and talks with Vernon and Wilbur Emory and a juvenile also implicated in the thefts resulted in the recovery of the additional loot from an old automobile at the Patterson home, from the Emory home and in the woods near their homes, Harpster said.

SOIL PROBLEMS
ARE DISCUSSED AT FARM MEET

"You can't shortchange the soil," F. G. Bamer, State College agronomist, told 50 farmers gathered this morning for the second annual "Crops and Soils Day" held by the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association at St. James Lutheran church.

Indicating that the once-general term of "Hayseed" for farmers was a term showing good management of the farm, Bamer pointed out that the disappearance of the horse and the hay is causing an increased number of problems on the nation's farms.

Heavy farm machinery is pounding farms into roadbeds and lack of hay sod in the rotation of crops is causing loss of soil, loss of moisture, loss of fertility and loss of production, Bamer added.

"Some soil in the state is so depleted it is worse than brick yard soil," the agronomist said.

Hay Essential In Rotation

"Many farmers feel they cannot afford a hay crop. As the horse passed out of the picture, as farm values went higher, they cut hay out of the picture entirely. They did use fertilizer frequently, but now they have nothing but a mineral soil. (Please Turn To Page 2)

YORKER FREED;
COUNTIAN TOLD
TO PAY COSTS

January jury trials ended for the Adams county court Tuesday afternoon with the last jury reporting at 3 o'clock.

At 2:40 the jury hearing the charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident brought against Dorney Walterick, York, retired, to begin its deliberations and the court began preparations to hear a mechanic's lien brought by L. E. Grogg, Spring Grove, against Michael and Lavina MacCarty, Reading township.

Mrs. MacCarty asked the court for an extension of time, pleading that her husband was ill and could not appear and that she had been unable to secure an attorney.

Continues Case

The court, after informing Mrs. MacCarty that she had had sufficient time in which to secure counsel since the case was first listed in 1947, continued the case until April term and announced that no further continuation would be granted.

The Walterick jury reported, after 20 minutes deliberation, that it found Walterick not guilty of the charge and placed the costs on Clair Hartman, Cashtown, prosecutor in the case. The court called Hartman and informed him he was in contempt of court for failing to appear in the case in which he was prosecutor and thus delaying the court for about 45 minutes Tuesday morning while it awaited the start of the trial. Hartman paid the costs later Tuesday afternoon.

Divorce Is Granted

Hartman had accused Walterick of failing to stop after the Yorker's car struck a dog. Walterick argued in court that he did stop at the first safe place beyond the scene of the accident, about 400 yards beyond the point of impact.

A decree of divorce was granted Olive O. Wolford, Gettysburg, from Albert R. Wolford, Hanover R. 1. Mrs. Wolford had alleged cruel and barbarous treatment.

PREDICT RAIN WILL CONTINUE

(By The Associated Press)

Freezing rain drenched Pennsylvania today, sheeting highways with ice and swelling rivers toward flood stage.

It was a cold, uncomfortable rain accompanied by frequent gusts of wind that made Pennsylvanians shiver in what felt like subzero temperatures.

There's little relief in sight. The weatherman at Philadelphia said the rain will continue at least until tomorrow night.

He predicted rising temperatures tomorrow but no halt in the rain.

The most seriously hit section of the state was in the northeast, east of Williamsport. Mountainous roads were nearly impassable, while conditions on city streets were hazardous.

Temperatures in the state hovered in the thirties, just above freezing. A sudden dip would turn the rain into snow.

The heavy January rainfall, at unreasonable warm temperatures, has brought lawns in the York area into the green color that usually comes with spring.

So far this month, rainfall in York has totalled 4.26 inches. Normal January precipitation is 3.03 inches.

and what was to be done." She spoke of her love of people and desire to assist them. She said she was asked to come into the Red Cross office for a few hours each day at the beginning of World War I, and that it would last only a short time and the office would be closed. However, each day brought more things to be done for veterans and their families. Thus began the home services of the chapter.

Early Welfare Work

She then became interested in crippled children and, before the Rotary took over, at one time more than 100 children from all parts of the county were taken to clinics. Miss McMillan stated that she pioneered in welfare work, also, seeing to it that families received an amount necessary for their existence. "In those days," she said, "families, regardless of the size, who were assisted financially, received $20 a year or $5 quarterly."

Miss McMillan gave much of the credit to her many helpers. She said she had not given up her interest and activity in the mental health clinic and will continue until some other agency will be responsible for its cares.

Miss McMillan is the third woman in Gettysburg to be honored by the club for past services. The others were Miss Maude Whiteleather, who completed nearly 30 years as a telephone operator, and Mrs. J. T. Fogle, who served as civic nurse for the borough for many years.

Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, past president of the club and treasurer of the North Atlantic Region of Sororist clubs, presented a "refresher course" for the members which included a quiz on the constitution and by-laws of the organization, reminding them that the aim and object of the clubs, all over the nation, is World Peace. Patriotism and the fostering of loyalty to the nation and civic pride for improvement of conditions in the community and home are other aims of the clubs.

Urged to Attend Forum

Mrs. Griest urged all members to attend the program sponsored by the Public Relations committee of the YWCA Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the "Y" building, at which time a forum will be conducted on community needs.

The dinner meeting, attended by 20 members and one guest, was opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag after which Mrs. Wayne Keet gave the grace. The meeting closed with the repeating of the Sororist pledge.

Members of the committee were Mrs. C. T. Ziegler, Miss Esther Hartman and Miss Virginia Myers.

IDENTIFY VOICE OF 'AXIS SALLY'

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—A former Nazi radio official today identified the voice of Mildred E. Gillars as that of the speaker in "Axis Sally" broadcasts.

The testimony, by Hans Von Richter, was in preparation for playing to a U. S. District court jury of numerous recordings of those broadcasts. The government relies heavily on the content of the programs to back up the treason charge on which Miss Gillars is on trial.

Von Richter, 38, was asked specifically whether he had seen Miss Gillars, on trial for treason, speaking into a microphone.

"Yes, many times," he said.

Von Richter was handed approximately 20 recordings of German broadcasts. He said he had heard them replayed in this country and described them as from "Midge at the Mike" "Home, Sweet Home" and other of the "Axis Sally" radio programs.

He testified he was familiar with Miss Gillars' voice, both natural and phonographically recorded. He then was asked by John M. Kelley, Jr., the chief prosecutor, whether he recognized any voices in listening to recordings of the "Axis Sally" programs. He said that he did.

Zoo's Ornyery Camel Not 'Ladies' Man'

Los Angeles, Jan. 26 (AP)—Hal, the ornyery camel of Griffith Park Zoo, has made it very plain, indeed, that he is not a ladies' man.

Zoo officials, deciding that Hal was lonely and that maybe they could raise some little two-humpers to trade with other zoos, got him a camel girl friend. They paid $1,500 to an animal farm for her.

They introduced her to Hal yesterday. But would Hal give her a tumble? No sir! He not only gave her the cold shoulder, or hump, but he ran away from her.

She chased him, in fact, all over his fenced yard. And Hal, stupid fellow, cowered in a corner with a look that said "get this babe out of here!" Zoo attendants disgustedly shook their heads, but hoped her feminine charms eventually would conquer his girl-shyness.

MacArthur Observes His 69th Birthday

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP)—A mellowing, influential man whom the Japanese call "Mahkassah" celebrated his birthday today.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of Allied headquarters, was 69.

But age seems to make little impression on him. His tall, spare figure is as erect as ever, his hand-shake firm, but his blue eyes twinkle.

It is MacArthur's 14th consecutive birthday out of the United States, his fourth in Japan since the end of the war.

It was a quiet day for the general, with business as usual.

Cowboy And Indian Game Fatal To Boy

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—A 13-year old boy was shot fatally today during a cowboy-Indian game with a companion.

The victim, Robert Andrews, lived on a back road between Walnutport and Lehigh Gap on the border of Lehigh and Carbon counties.

Coroner Harry Doll said the shooting apparently was accidental. He gave this account: Robert and a neighbor, Walter Andrews, 14, left home early in the day to check a trap line along the Lehigh river. Robert started at one end of the line and Walter—no relation—at the other.

Both had .22 rifles and were firing them and playing as they approached each other. One of the bullets struck Robert in the heart. Walter dragged his companion home. Robert was rushed to Palmerton hospital where he died an hour later.

Signal Operator Burned In Wreck

Catawissa, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—A signal operator was burned to death last night after ten cars of a 60-car Pennsylvania railroad freight train left the tracks and smashed into a signal tower.

The mishap occurred one mile east of Catawissa. The train was bound from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to Sunbury, Pa.

The victim was identified as John D. Mettler, 63, of Crowl, Northumberland county.

A PRR official said the 38th car of the southbound train loaded with coal jumped the tracks. It derailed nine other cars—many loaded with vegetables and other merchandise—and all smashed into the tower. The wreckage caught fire. Mettler's body was found after the blaze was extinguished.

Tel Aviv, Israel, Jan. 26 (AP)—Israeli voters appeared today to have stamped approval on the many-party government of their eight-month-old state. With nearly half the vote counted in yesterday's election of the first Hebrew Parliament in history, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's moderate left Labor party, Mapai, was leading with 35.5 per cent of all votes cast. Twenty-one parties had put up candidates.

Elmira, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—The price paid to producers for milk delivered to the New York metropolitan market will be cut 22 cents a hundredweight February 1. The cut, disclosed here last night, may pull retail milk prices in New York city down half a cent a quart—to 22½ cents for homogenized milk and 20½ cents for approved milk in containers.

There is nothing there to absorb water. One cannot emphasize too strongly the need for organic matter in the soil, and the need for good rotation. And you must have a hay sod in the rotation. Nothing can take its place."

The problem of heavy machinery is one that is causing more trouble for farmers. Compaction of the soil gives it a hard surface, and that results in water running off most of the soil and wet spots wherever the low spot occurs on the field. Gypsum mixed into the soil in wet spots will cure that, but the soil still needs organic matter and cultivation to provide a porous surface which will hold water.

Bamer also pointed out that a soil testing laboratory is being constructed at Pennsylvania State college. Within about a year the lab will be in operation to test soils for farmers throughout the state.

Gives Contouring Advice

He advocated adding some nitrogen, about 40-50 pounds per acre, when a rye grass cover crop is cut late. The nitrogen helps decompose the rye grass, he said, and without the added nitrogen it would draw nitrogen from the earth in its decomposition.

Putting in contour strips for a two-year rotation is wasting time and effort, he added. Without a hay sod in the rotation the strips are of little use.

This afternoon Bamer and Elmer Pifer, also a State College agronomist, gave additional details concerning the care and management of soils.

Assistant County Agent Ira N. Dunmire presided at this morning's session.

STEEL RACES AHEAD

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—U. S. Steel corporation common stock raced ahead of the stock market after a delayed start today. Steel failed to appear on the ticker tape until 35 minutes after the opening gong. The initial sale of 15,000 shares was made at a gain of 3½ points at 76¼ although this advance was later toned down to around 3.

Elmira, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—The price paid to producers for milk delivered to the New York metropolitan market will be cut 22 cents a hundredweight February 1. The cut, disclosed here last night, may pull retail milk prices in New York city down half a cent a quart—to 22½ cents for homogenized milk and 20½ cents for approved milk in containers.

Similarly, the Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot carried this revealing story: "Miss R.—, an attractive young health nurse, was involved in an accident while motoring in the Cumberland yesterday. The area in which she was injured is spectacularly scenic."

Trojans Spurt In Final Period To Nip Maroons 42-25 Thereby Clinching First Half Honors

Like "Ole Man River," Chambersburg high school's basketball team just keeps rolling along.

The charges of Lowell Schlichter demonstrated Tuesday night before a turn-away crowd of 1,250 that they are still the class of the South Penn league as they trounced Gettysburg, 42-25 at Chambersburg, thereby clinching the first half title.

The game was much closer than the score indicates and a minute after the opening of the final period, the home team held a scant three-point edge and was giving every evidence of blowing the lead, the game and possibly the South Penn diadem.

If the Maroons shots had been falling, Gettysburg would have had a substantial lead by the beginning of the fourth quarter. Neither team showed much offensively until the final quarter, with the Maroons shots many times falling way short of their mark, and the Chambersburg cagers hesitant to shoot.

Guy Donaldson, Gettysburg center who gave one of the best performances of his scholastic career, sparked a third quarter rally that brought the Maroons within three points of Chambersburg at the end of the period.

Behind 17-10 at the half, and 19-10 shortly after the third period began, the charges of George Forney started to click. Donaldson dumped two push shots to narrow the margin but "Frog" Miner tallied a lay-up. Bill Bushman and Doug Knox scored on successive shots and Chambersburg led 21-18, at the three-way mark.

After Bob Leisher scored a twin-pointer, Bushman sank a one-handed toss to make the score, 23-20. Miner's field goal and foul gave the home team a six-point lead with less than six minutes to go. At this point the Chambersburg team got hot and netted 16 to win going away.

Mike Waters, sophomore Chambersburg guard, proved the outstanding player of the game as his close-guarding tactics and ball-hawking upset the Maroon offense many times. For Gettysburg, Donaldson was the big gun as he scored 11 points on the offense, and played a good game defensively.

Jayvees Beaten
Coach Howard Shoemaker's junior varsity lost the preliminary game to the Chambersburg Jayvees, 34-17. After holding their opponents to a 10-9 edge at halftime, the Gettysburg cagers just couldn't combat their opponent's height advantage. Ben Walker, Chambersburg forward, was high scorer of the game with 16 points while Cleveland and Davis paced Gettysburg, each scoring five.

The Maroons will now be idle until next Tuesday when they open the second half schedule at Carlisle.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—George Munger, the Penn coach who was here for a high school football banquet the other night, insisted that Penn will be glad to play Penn State annually. . . . The catch is that the Quakers want it to be their opening game every season while the boys from up in the mountains figure such a tussle should come in the "big game" period in November. . . . Few sports fans hereabouts can get excited over an intra-state football rivalry while the local high school basketball team goes on winning. . . . They're too busy figuring out how to get to Philadelphia for the playoff games and wishing they had a gym big enough to stage them here. The last time Hazleton won the state cage title thousands of fans made the long trip to Philly.

TOO MUCH DOUGH

Judge Sammy Weiss, whose sideline is pro football officiating, figures the National Football league made "a big mistake" when it failed to make peace with the All-America conference. . . . Sammy may be declared offside for that statement, but he thinks the current inflated salaries not only hurt the clubs but are harmful to the kids who collect them. It's an awful comedown for a boy who had a couple of $20,000 football seasons to find he has to go to work for an ordinary salary. . . . Incidentally, Columbia Lou Kuserow of Glassport, Pa., not only signed with Brooklyn for $40,000 for two seasons but his contract specifies he can't be traded out of New York city. . . . Fritz Zivic, who has been making comeback gestures lately, claims he was "retired in the United States." That doesn't include Georgia, Fritz adds.

END OF DETOUR

Lee Handley, former Pirates infielder, is doing right well as basketball broadcaster this winter. Another basketball announcer is Stan Musial, who used to like to play the game better than baseball. . . . Gyps who saw Stan play claim he went down the floor like Country Slaughter running bases and anyone who got in his way was liable to be carried through the gym wall.

Seminarians Take 3rd Straight Win

Annexing its third straight victory, the Gettysburg seminary team defeated the York Lutheran Ministerial association's team Tuesday night by a 38-35 score in a hard-fought game on the Zion Lutheran church floor in York.

The local squad captured the lead in the early moments of the first quarter and was never headed although the final outcome of the game was never out of question. Gene Ries took scoring honors for the Gettysburg five with 12 points while Herm Stuemphle and Harry Springer led the York contingent each with the same number of points.

"Golden Guernsey" Subject Of Suit

Philadelphia, Jan. 26 (AP)—A Connecticut corporation seeks to prevent a Montgomery (Pa.) county dairyman from using the trade name "Golden Guernsey."

An action in equity filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday asked that George Heuer, owner of the Oakland farms, be forbidden to use the trade name. The suit was brought by Golden Guernsey, Inc., and the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association, its agent in

CAN'T THREAD NEEDLE AT 111

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Mary O'Neill, the little old lady of "Stone Crusher hill," celebrated her 111th birthday with one regret—she can't thread a needle any more. Mrs. O'Neill, believed to be Pennsylvania's oldest woman, lives with her granddaughter, Nancy O'Neill, on a nearby mountain known as "Stone Crusher hill."

Until recent months, Mrs. O'Neill—who has never worn glasses—was able to thread her own needles for sewing. Now her eyesight isn't quite as good as it used to be. She still bakes cakes, however, and does other household duties. And last year she made a trip down Stone Crusher hill to see a new baby at the Ralph Cragle home. Last week, Mrs. O'Neill told a reporter that she felt President Truman is "a fine man and capable of leading us to peace."

EVIDENCE DOOMS TEDDY TO DEATH

Glen Cove, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—Everybody from the mayor to the dogcatcher liked Teddy, but the evidence was all against him. So yesterday he was executed for sheep killing.

Teddy, a big, black, aristocratic-looking mongrel dog, was the town's most popular pet. He was a devoted friend of the 700 pupils of St. Patrick's parochial school.

When a wave of sheep killing broke out last summer, Teddy came under police suspicion, but hundreds of school children, townspeople and the Rev. John Cross, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, defended him.

Recently, more sheep were felled. On January 15 and 16, three estates reported 13 ewes killed and 29 others mangled. A 250-pound sow also was killed.

Police said the killers had been identified as a pack of about five dogs, led by a big, black dog, closely clipped except for a tassel at the end of the tail. The description fit Teddy. Footpad casts at the scene of the killing also fit. Hairs found matched his.

Father Cross, at whose home the dog lived, turned him over to a veterinarian to be destroyed.

Today's Talk
MORE THAN YOU THINK

There is far more to us all than we think. There are hidden gifts and talents. Abilities that only await an awakening. Nothing inspires one more than the reading of a successful life story. What surprises these men and women discovered within themselves, as they unfolded toward their dreams.

Our greatest discovery is to discover ourselves. Woodrow Wilson once wrote an inspiring little book, which he called "When a Man Comes to Himself." And a writer, in a little book that I recently read, tells of a man who uttered in complete surprise, that he was more than he thought he was—a sensation utterly new to him.

You, who read these lines, are far more important than you think. It would be a good thing to bear this in mind, when you get discouraged, or think that there is no place in the world for you. There may be places of which you never dreamed—awaiting only your approach to them.

There is a secret power within every human being. To search this out and discover it, is to have found the real path to life. Then it remains only for you to continue your journey toward your heart's desire—your objective in life. Be that what it may, if it gives personal satisfaction, you are a success.

"After all," wrote Michael Fairless, "what do we ask of life, here or indeed hereafter, but leave to serve, to live, to commune with our fellow-men and with ourselves; and from the lap of earth to look up into the face of God?" The beautiful writer of these lines was dying as she wrote—but she didn't realize that she was only starting to live! Her little book, "The Roadmaker," has been published in a score or more editions and sold to over half a million people. Her real name was Margaret Fairless Barber.

Miracles have happened in the lives of millions of people. What a surprise it must have been to those early companions of Abraham Lincoln, who knew him only as the partner store-keeper in the little town of Salem, Illinois, when they saw him become President of the United States! There was more in Abraham Lincoln than he ever dreamed there was—and perhaps more than we now can fathom.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "How To Take Life Happily."

PEACE OF MIND
Three ways there are to peace of mind;
All easy paths to tread,
And one is, when we can, be kind;
Let nothing harsh be said.

When difference of thought appears,
Tough seem it great or small,
Be fair, remembering down the years

That we are brothers all.
The third: to God's will be resigned,
With faith that it is right,
And there shall come that peace of mind
Which lets us sleep at night.

KIDS' CAMP AT INDIANTOWN GAP IS NEARING VOTE

Harrisburg, Jan. 26 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff's plan to use the $85,000,000 Indiantown Gap military reservation as a summer children's camp headed today toward a Senate vote.

Legislation authorizing the commonwealth to establish the camp came up for consideration a second time in the upper branch, making a final Senate vote possible next Monday.

It was revised in committee at the suggestion of Sen. Burton W. Tarr (D-Fayette) to give school authorities instead of the Military Affairs department the selection of children attending the camp. School personnel also would be used to supervise camp activities. Military affairs would supervise the feeding and housing of the children and fix the dates for the camp.

Peacetime Use
"In times of war this camp was used for developing future citizens for the defense of their country," Duff told the general assembly in urging establishment of the children's camp.

"In times of peace, it can be equally well used for developing future citizens of the country, particularly from those families which do not have of their own the means to give them many of the advantages that be wholesome advantages for every citizen."

Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor sponsored the measure to carry out Duff's suggestion.

House Readies Bonus Bill
The Senate also moved up for an early vote a proposal of Taylor to impose stiffer penalties for bribes or attempts to bribe amateur or professional athletes, their managers, friends or relatives. The bill would make it a crime even to suggest fixing of a game to anyone remotely connected with a sports event.

The House, meanwhile, readied the $500,000,000 veterans bonus amendment for a final vote on Monday. With the measure already approved by the Senate, House action will put up to Pennsylvania's voters the question of financing bonus payments to World War II veterans by changing the state constitution. At present, the state can only borrow up to $1,000,000, at a time.

With Republican leaders driving for April adjournment, the lower branch also prepared to vote on a bi-partisan plan to boost legislative salaries by $37,000 a year. It held up action, however, on measures to allow local magistrates to impose penalties for food law violations.

Budget Message Soon
Duff has been working to complete his financial program for the next two years so it can be presented next week. So far, however, there had been no announcement that it will come. He is expected to stay within the framework of his recommendations against tax revisions and re-establishment of a general building authority to handle long-range construction.

Appointments of the governor since the end of the 1947 session of the general assembly won Senate committee approval yesterday. Some 400 appointees were cleared by the group for Senate ratification in their present posts, as required by the state constitution.

The committee held up action, however, on the state tax equalization board, pending further study. These affected are Chairman John N. O'Neill, Edwin Winner and Walter J. Kress.

Become Russian Base
Whether the Red ism can overrun and dominate all China remains to be seen. It's a titanic task. Communist success would mean that China had become a Russian base from which to conduct the Bolshevik revolution in the rest of Asia.

There could be no greater menace to world peace—no greater challenge to the Western Democracies.

By a curious twist of fate we have the coincidence of the parley of Asiatic countries in New Delhi. Fifteen nations attended this meeting at the invitation of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of the Dominion of India, and four other states sent observers.

Thus was born an Asiatic bloc under leadership of India. The guiding spirit in this move is Nehru, one of the world's great personalities who bids fair to become the dominant figure in Asia.

Against Imperialism
This bloc comprises nations representing more than half the population of the globe. Where is it going to stand as regards the Communist world revolution? What will be its attitude towards Russian domination of China?

Here again we are dealing with a question which only time can answer. However, I believe there are grounds for hope that this bloc will work with the Western world—pro-

SMOKE CONTROL IS BEING URGED

Harrisburg, Jan. 26 (P)—Expansion of Pittsburgh's smoke control program to other counties is proposed under a new bill in the House counties committee today.

Reps. Robert K. Hamilton (D-Beaver) and Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) submitted the measure yesterday. It would allow 12 counties to adopt smoke control regulations as already are in effect in Allegheny county.

Counties affected are Beaver, Berks, Cambria, Dauphin, Erie, Fayette, Lancaster, Lehigh, Northampton, Schuylkill, Washington and York counties, all are fourth class counties.

Fleming said the measure was drafted primarily to affect, Beaver, Fayette and Washington counties in western Pennsylvania but any of the other seven could follow through with their own regulations.

A companion bill introduced by Fleming and Hamilton also would give strengthened powers to boroughs in smoke control matters.

Meanwhile, Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) told the Senate that a proposed smoke control study committee could develop a program to eliminate smoke that would not hurt the coal industry. Passage of the Allegheny county smoke control bill in 1947 brought complaints that many soft coal miners would be thrown out of work.

ASIATIC BLOC IS MOMENTOUS DEVELOPMENT

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst

A century hence historians will, I suspect, remark with the wisdom of hindsight, that in the month of January, '49, Asia produced two events which changed the course of world affairs.

The reference, of course, is (1) To the collapse of Nationalist China before the Red rebellion, and (2) To the birth of an association of Oriental nations under leadership of India.

Viewing these developments at close range it looks as though the two may be the fuel which will heat the melting-pot of Asiatic destiny. And that's a matter of vast concern to the Western world.

Take the case of China with a population which is close to a quarter that of the whole world: Its Nationalist government, which had been accorded the ranking of world power and was one of the Big Five, has collapsed. Chinese Communism, which is working hand and glove with Moscow, seems about to take over control.

Whether the Red ism can overrun and dominate all China remains to be seen. It's a titanic task. Communist success would mean that China had become a Russian base from which to conduct the Bolshevik revolution in the rest of Asia.

There could be no greater menace to world peace—no greater challenge to the Western Democracies.

DIXIE SENATORS BATTLING CURB ON FILIBUSTER

By JACK RUTLEDGE

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Southern Senators today threw up a 17-man defense against administration efforts to curb the filibuster.

Senator Stennis (D-Miss.) has lined up that many Southern Democrats to fight proposed rules changes being studied by the Senate Rules committee.

Among the changes under consideration are suggestions that Senate debate be cut off at any time by a majority or a two-thirds vote. Republicans are going along with the administration.

Challenge Truman
On another front, the Republicans were not so agreeable. Today they offered their first challenge to President Truman's request for board anti-inflation powers from Congress.

The administration wants a seven-month extension of voluntary controls over steel and other scarce commodities. The controls expire March 1. In the meantime, a new program of controls including mandatory powers would be worked up and presented as a bill.

The Republicans instead offered a one-year extension of voluntary controls, hoping to lessen pressure for mandatory government controls over industry. The test scene was a closed-door session of the Senate Banking committee.

Spice Was Added
Spice was added to the tariff hearing when Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.) charged that the administration was using "steamroller" tactics to push through the Foreign Aid bill.

Reed said some business men hesitate to appear before the House Ways and Means committee to testify because of fear of "retaliation." Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) said, "I don't know what the man is talking about."

The committee is hearing testimony on Mr. Truman's proposal to repeal the 1948 tariff act and restore the old reciprocal trade law under which he has authority to reduce tariffs in pacts with nations which agree to lower their trade barriers, too. The last session of Congress set up curbs which Democrats contend "hamstring" trade negotiations.

Uniform Pricing
On pricing policies, an advisory group has recommended to Congress that a law be passed clearly guaranteeing individual sellers the right to meet price competition. The group is composed of 46 representatives of business, labor, agriculture and the public. The suggestion was made to the Senate Commerce committee's trade policies group.

The committee is studying a bill to legalize uniform pricing where no conspiracy exists. The existing law has been termed confusing to industry, particularly after a Supreme Court ruling in the cement case last April.

Veterans pension proposal that involves billions of dollars has the right of way in the House Veterans Affairs committee. Chairman Rankin (D-Miss.) gave it top order of business tomorrow. The legislation affects about 18,000,000 veterans of World Wars I and II. It calls for payment of $60 a month to veterans on reaching the age of 60, $90 at the age of 65, plus extra pay for disabilities.

Act Tomorrow On Wage-Hour Law
A sweeping new bill designed to bring 5,000,000 more workers under the Wage Hour law, and boosting the minimum pay rate from 40 to 75 cents an hour, is set for action tomorrow.

Senator Hill (D-Ala.) said he may offer a 10-point substitute plan for the administration's National Health Insurance program. The plan was worked up by Dr. Gilson Colby Engel, president of the Pennsylvania Medical society.

Tomorrow, the Senate is expected to give a vote of confidence to James E. Webb as undersecretary of state.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!
Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing! Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Pills... and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 15¢ a day. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way: Everything food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

NATION HIT BY BAD WEATHER ON MANY FRONTS

(By The Associated Press)
There was lots of bad and damaging weather across the nation today. Snow, sleet and rain pelted wide areas from the Atlantic coastal areas to southern California's mountain and desert country.

Sub-zero temperatures continued in the western plains and Rocky mountain regions but the bitter cold did not cause any let-up in the fight to save the thousands of snowbound livestock.

Hundreds of persons in southern Illinois were driven from their homes by flood waters. Further evacuations were indicated as rain fell throughout the Mississippi river valley. Many highways were closed.

Winds of near-gale velocity and driving snow hit the mountain and desert regions of southern California and in Arizona and Nevada. Scores of persons were marooned at winter resorts. There were new threats of further loss of livestock. Some highways were blocked and schools in some communities were closed.

Temperatures dropped to freezing in the coastal lowlands and citrus orchards. Four inches of snow fell in Las Vegas, Nev., in 12 hours. Many tourists were stranded. Planes were grounded and trains were running three to four hours late.

Freezing rain and sleet which covered an extensive area was described by the U. S. Weather Bureau as the "dirtiest weather." The wet belt, which in many sections brought glazing conditions, stretched from Dallas, Tex., to Chicago by way of St. Louis and eastward through Detroit to the Appalachians.

25 Below Zero
More rain fell in the flooded portions of South Illinois and throughout Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio into Pennsylvania and hit into parts of Tennessee, West Virginia, Virginia and to the coastal areas. There also was rain in Arkansas, Oklahoma and in the north and west sections of Texas.

The coldest weather was in the central and northern plains, the northern Rockies and the plateau states. Low marks included 25 below zero at Melford, Utah, and Pembina, N. D.; —22 at Phillip, S. D.; —19 at Custer, Mont.; —17 at Pocatello, Ida., and —14 at Salt Lake City. There also were a few sub-zero marks in northern New England. Snow fell over the southern section and there were falls at Buffalo, Rochester, and Syracuse, N. Y. Some warming up from sub-zero marks was reported in the Pacific northwest. But there were a few isolated regions in Washington which reported below-zero readings.

Flood refugees in southern Illinois huddled in makeshift shelters. Some 200 at Mount Carmel, Ill., were in railroad boxcars, garages and an abandoned factory. More than 500 others have been driven from their homes by the rampaging rivers in Illinois. The Wabash river is above flood stage at several points in Illinois and Indiana. Near Pinckneyville, Ill., two strip mines were flooded and some 800 miners were made idle.

The airlift operations in the western plains and Rocky mountain areas got new life yesterday as a Senate committee in Washington approved a $750,000 emergency fund. The money will be used to finance rescue work in Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, South Dakota and sections of North Dakota and Montana.

A state of emergency was declared for a large section of Nebraska by Gov. Val Peterson. It included 20 northern counties and parts of seven other counties. The Nebraska Legislature moved to appropriate $500,000 for emergency blizzard relief and Peterson asked the federal government to match the appropriation.

Peterson said cattle in the storm area of 27,500 square miles were weakening rapidly and he described the need for getting feed to them as "critical."

WORLEY OFFERS NEW MEASURE

Harrisburg, Jan. 26 (AP)—A $150,000 program for teaching industrial and labor relations at the Pennsylvania State College was proposed in the state House of Representatives by Reps. Francis Worley (R-Adams) and Martin C. Mihm (D-Allegheny).

Penn. State would be given the money to carry on an educational program in industrial and labor relations in Pennsylvania.

Other House bills would:

Establish a $450 year scholarships for children of dead or disabled war veterans.

Include lung diseases in the list of occupational diseases for which benefits must be paid.

Authorize first class townships to finance the purchase of community ambulances by a volunteer fire company.

Increase from $1,000 to $3,200 the salary of county commissioners in 15 small (seventh class) counties.

Increase the daily pay of coroner's jurors from $2 to $3.

Exempt clubs from the liquor quota law of one license for each 1,000 residents of a municipality.

Return all of the two per cent state tax on out-of-state casualty insurance to municipalities for police pension funds instead of the state keeping half for general expenses.

EX-OFFICERS

must be submitted not later than April 30, 1949.

Applicants will appear before Army Interview Boards. All will be given notice of time and place of their interviews, results of which will be forwarded to The Adjutant General in Washington. The secretary of the Army's Personnel board will select the best-qualified applicants.

EXTRA DIVIDEND FROM U.S. STEEL

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—The management of United States Steel corporation, reporting the highest net income since 1929 and a peacetime record of shipments, plans to triple the number of its outstanding shares of common stock.

Some 230,000 persons own the stock of "big steel" averaging 52 shares each.

They learned yesterday that: (1) They will get their usual $1.25 dividend and a special $1 payment, first such extra since 1947, both payable March 10 to holders of record February 4; and (2) If they approve a directors' proposal at their annual meeting May 2 they will have three shares in place of each share now held.

The directors, meeting here, reported U. S. Steel's net income for 1948 was $129,552,424, slightly higher than the $127,098,148 earned in 1947 but far below the profits of 1929 or the World War I years. The latest total was equal to $11.99 a common share compared with $11.71 in the previous year.

"Big steel" shipped an all-time record 5,467,696 net tons of steel products in the final quarter of 1948, while the 20,597,570 tons shipped during the year was a peacetime record exceeded only in 1942 and 1944.

Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board, told a news conference the corporation had seen "little—almost no—let-up in demand for steel," a demand he believed would continue "for some months to come."

U.S. 'Woefully Weak' At Capital, Says Priest

Pittsburgh, Jan. 26 (AP)—There are more "actual and potential" enemies in Washington, D. C., than could enter the United States through Alaska, says the Rev. Father Bernard R. Hubbard, the famed "glacier priest."

"We're terribly and woefully weak in Washington," Father Hubbard said yesterday at a news conference prior to a speaking engagement. "There's too much liberalism there in a disguise of leftism."

"Alaska is in the middle, all right," he said. "It is our nearest approach to both the Soviet republics and the countries behind the iron curtain. But I look on Alaska as utterly an offensive base. It should be built up. There is a need for more housing and equipment."

Lind Gets Letters On School Aid Bill

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—About 200 letters have been received by Rep. Lind (D-Pa.) in the last day or two urging that private and parochial schools be made eligible for benefits under any federal-aid-to-education bill.

Lind, who confessed to bring somewhat mystified by the number, told a reporter he had noticed that many of the letters were similar in wording and that they had been incorrectly addressed to John Lind.

Lind is the only member of the House by the name of Lind, but his full name is James F. Lind.

The tusks of the walrus, which sometimes are 30 inches long, are used in defense, in digging and in climbing.

Quick Action For Repeal Pledged

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Senate Democratic leadership promised today to "travel just as fast as we can all the way" in repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), the party floor leader, gave the fast action pledge.

Streamlined hearings on new labor legislation will get underway Friday morning with Secretary of Labor Tobin the first witness. The hearings, before the Senate labor committee, are scheduled to wind up February 10.

Lucas estimated the committee will need 10 days to two weeks after that to get a bill in shape. "I don't want to be pinned down on a date," Lucas told a reporter, "but you can be sure the bill will be called up quickly for debate once it reaches the Senate floor."

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Station WHVR, Hanover, Pa., yesterday asked permission of the communications commission authority to increase operations from daytime to unlimited time. The station would operate at night on 500 watts power.

Receive Painting

The art collection of Mount St. Mary's college has been enhanced by the addition of a remarkable painting, the gift of the Rt. Rev. Edward P. McAdams, rector of St. Joseph's church, Washington, D. C. The painting entitled "Landing of the Pilgrims in Maryland," was executed in 1927 by A. Ludavico of New York city. The historical accuracy of the details in the painting is corroborated by both the National Museum and the Smithsonian Institute. The painting depicts the landing of the Ark and the Dove at St. Clement's Island. Father White is celebrating a mass of Thanksgiving for the successful voyage, surrounded by the Algonquin Indians who have come from the huts and homes of their communal centers along the Potomac river. Judas trees, which blossom around the end of March, when the Ark and the Dove landed, add color to the picture. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of Mt. St. Mary's college, has accepted the gift.

Multi-Billion Dollar Veterans' Pension Bill Gets House Right Of Way

BILL AFFECTS SOME 18,000,000 VETS OF 2 WARS

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—A veterans pension proposal with a multi-billion dollar price tag had the right of way today in the House Veterans Affairs committee.

Chairman Rankin (D-Miss.) made it the first order of business for tomorrow, with Gen. John Thomas Taylor, national legislative commander of the American Legion, as the first witness.

The legislation, by estimate of Rankin and the American Legion, affects some 18,000,000 veterans of World Wars I and II.

See Huge Cost

Its impact upon the national pocketbook has not yet been officially estimated, but Veterans' Administration figures show that there are more than 3,500,000 veterans who would reach the pension age within the next 10 years.

On the basis of the bill's pension provisions, this could mean a possible bill of $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 a year by 1959—if all those veterans lived to the age of 60.

The bill was introduced by Rankin last week at the request of the American Legion. The Mississippian said it has the approval of other veterans' organizations as well.

"I don't think there will be a dozen votes against it in both Houses," he told a reporter.

The bill provides both for non-service connected disabilities, and for old age. On reaching 60, the veteran would receive $60 a month, whether disabled or not. At the age of 65, it would go to $90. That would be in addition to any disability payments he may have been receiving, or would later receive.

Disability rated at 20 per cent would entitle him to $20 additional a month; 40 per cent disability, $40 a month; 60 per cent, $60 a month; total disability, $90 a month.

In cases where a veteran required an attendant because of blindness, or any other disability making him entirely helpless, his pension would be $120 a month.

His disability need not have been incurred in line of service, and he would be eligible if he served 90 days during either of the last two wars.

After World War I the Italian sculptor Alceo Dossena reproduced numerous pieces of Renaissance sculpture and, he said, disposed of them as copies at a slight profit. They were so good, however, that the art dealer sold the copies as originals for fabulous sums.

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

AP Newsfeature

Chapter 17

They spent a lazy three hours in Provincetown and said very little. Then, at Jack's suggestion, they walked to the end of quiet Commercial Street. Here, a long, rocky breakwater joined the mainland to the small sandy area on which a lighthouse was located. Betty pointed to the breakwater.

"I feel adventurous," she said. "What do you say we walk it and look at the water from there?"

She had never felt less adventurous in her life, but she had to do something — anything that would stop her from thinking of Gertrude. She knew she had not heard the whole story, but somehow she couldn't ask questions.

"All right," Jack said. "But I'm warning you it'll be tough walking. We can't go far. The tide's coming in and sometimes it covers the breakwater."

Presently Jack shouted to her,

"Better start back now. At the rate we're walking, the tide will move faster than we can."

"Oh, no!" she called back, without looking around. "I'm just learning how to walk on these things."

"Don't be a fool," he exclaimed, and started toward her. She looked around then, and saw that she had come farther than she'd realized. There was water on either side of the rocky ledge and the tide was coming in quite fast. She knew a moment of panic as she felt herself grow dizzy and faint. Jack called to her:

"Don't look at the water. Look at the rocks. And stand where you are."

He picked her up in his arms and carried her back to the shore. "You'd have been all right if you hadn't got scared," he told her. "You did go too far, but you had nothing to fear but fear."

Before he released her, he leaned over and kissed her on the lips. "Rescuer's reward," he said. "Looks like I'm falling in love with you, sugar. Shall we leave it at that, or shall we try for marriage?"

"We'll leave it at that," she said. "Only don't kiss me again. We've been going around together all summer, having fun. Don't spoil everything."

"Okay," he said. "I shouldn't have kissed you anyhow."

"You don't have to worry about me, Casanova," said Betty. "I happen to have other plans. I'll be too busy to bother with such nonsense as love and marriage."

"You don't say," Jack's comment on her unexpected pronouncement was accompanied by a frown. "Gee, that's a funny attitude for a girl to take. Too busy to bother with love and marriage, eh? Sure I can't make you change your mind?"

Betty shook her head. "No, you can't. Nobody can. And I am going to be busy. In a few weeks I'll be fall. I intend to go back to New York and take up where I left off. I was in training to become a nurse, you know. I never should have stopped."

The words seemed to tumble out without her volition. It was almost as if her subconscious mind had dictated this decision. Suddenly she knew what she wanted. She wanted to be wanted, to be needed, to be useful. This was her heart's desire, her secret star. And until this very minute she hadn't known it.

Several hours later when they were on their way home Betty was surprised to see Jack turn into the dirt road which led to Alden Beach.

"But it's late," she protested. "I promised Aunt Minniebelle I'd be home before midnight."

"You will," he told her. "You can phone Aunt Minniebelle from Playland. I thought we might stop at Playland for just one dance. I know I look terrible. Hope you don't mind if I seem to bury my face in your hair while we dance. But, I've got to see what's been done in the way of replacements. I know very well Costello isn't up to leading the band. But I've got to see. Mind?"

"No, I don't mind," Betty said mechanically. Just as soon as they reached Playland she went into a telephone booth and called her aunt, Mrs. Warren answered the phone and burst into a fit of weeping when she heard Betty's voice.

"I've been worried sick," she announced between sobs.

"But why, Aunt Minniebelle? I told you I'd be back before midnight and I will. It's only eleven."

It was some little time before Aunt Minniebelle could control her voice. "It's not you, dear," she said finally. "It's Gertrude. She went out early this morning and she hasn't come back."

"I wouldn't worry about that, darling," Betty tried to conceal the anxiety in her own voice. "I'm sure she's all right. She's out with her friends and they don't realize how late it is — you know how kids are, darling. Besides," Betty added lamely, "she might have had car trouble. Even new cars aren't perfect. So don't you worry and —"

"But you didn't let me finish, Bettina," Minniebelle broke in. "It's worse than you think. She — she's gone. I've been up to her room, and her clothes are gone too. We didn't have a quarrel or anything either."

WOULD BANISH 'COMMON SCOLD' FROM STATUTES

Harrisburg, Jan. 26 (AP) — In 10 short words, Rep. Jeanette M. Dye (R-Mercer) hopes to wipe out one of Pennsylvania's oldest laws. The words are: "The common-law crime of common scold is hereby abolished."

That sentence is part of House bill No. 40 with which the woman Legislator proposes to emancipate talkative women from a fate which at one time meant a ducking in the town pond.

As the Legislature's leading protagonist of women's rights, Mrs. Dye says of the age-old common scold law:

1. It's unnecessary. Laws against disorderly conduct and libel cover common scolds.

2. It's discriminatory. Women alone are subject to the law which over the years has exempted men.

"And what's more I intend to do everything I can to end, as far as Pennsylvania is concerned, the farce of subjecting women to a silly law such as that," she told a reporter.

The crime of common scold originated in England centuries ago and was directed against women who became a public nuisance in the neighborhood.

Punishment was a ducking in a pond while strapped to a ducking stool. The last time such a punishment was inflicted in Pennsylvania was in 1824. That case, however, was appealed to the state Supreme court. The tribunal ruled that although the crime of common scold still existed in Pennsylvania, "ducking" was obsolete as a penalty. It said punishment should be by fine or imprisonment.

Few common scold cases were brought to court until last year in Allegheny county. Two women were convicted of being common scolds and then Mrs. Dye took up the cudgel.

Fairfield Lions Plan Activities

Three public activities are being planned by the Fairfield Lions club for the next several weeks.

The group at its next meeting Tuesday, February 1, at the Indian Trail Inn, will be completing plans for a donkey basketball game to be held at the Fairfield community center February 4; for a card party to be held at the same place February 9 and a dance to be held there at a later date.

All of the activities are designed to raise money for the club's charity fund which is used principally to help persons with eye difficulties. All members of the club were urged today to turn out for next Tuesday's meeting. The 35 members are scheduled to take part in a special events contest sponsored by Time magazine with the winner of the battle of wits listed to receive either a large globe of the world or any other merchandise valued up to $5.

She — well, she's just gone!"

"I'll be home in ten minutes, Aunt Minniebelle. And I'm sure — in fact, I'm positive — everything is all right."

Betty had never been less sure of anything in her life. She said so to Jack Barnes, who stood waiting for her outside the phone booth, and he agreed with her.

"Costello's gone too," he said. "They've got a new dance band. I'll take you home and come back later."

Fairfield May Make Commentator Right

A radio commentator's remark that "Fairfield, Pennsylvania, has an unusual traffic sign" is leading Adams county's own Fairfield to consider putting up a sign to make the commentator right.

The sign allegedly read: "Notice to motorists. Drive slowly and we'll treat you right; drive fast and you'll treat us—to a fine and costs."

A group of Fairfield Lions members looked over their town and found that the sign had not been put up there. They considered that there are about five Fairfield in Pennsylvania, and concluded it might be one of the other towns.

Then they began to think — "That's not a bad sign, why shouldn't we have it?"

Now plans are underway to construct a sign at Fairfield giving the above warning.

FARM STOCKS OF CORN HIGH

Much more corn and oats, important livestock feed grains, but less wheat, barley and hay were stocked on Pennsylvania farms this January 1 than on the same date a year previous, the state Department of Agriculture announced following Federal-State surveys.

Farm stocks of corn, oats and barley were well above the 10-year average holdings for the first of the year.

Pennsylvania corn stocks on farms January 1, totaled 42,355,000 bushels, 20 per cent more than on the same date a year previous and 30 per cent above the 10-year average.

Wheat stocks at 6,240,000 bushels were 18 per cent less than on January 1, 1948 and 14 per cent below the 10-year average.

Oats on farms, 18,945,000 bushels, were 47 per cent above January 1 the year previous and 12 per cent above the 1938-47 average.

Stocks of barley on farms December 1, 1948 totaled 2,084,000 bushels, 14 per cent less than a year previous but exceeding the 1939-46 average by 11 per cent.

Hay stocks on January 1, 1949 at 2,264,000 tons were 7 per cent below the same date a year previous and 2 per cent less than the average of 1938-47.

Soybean stocks estimated at 141,000 bushels, were 62 per cent above those on hand a year previous but were only about one-half of the average stocks on hand for the period 1943-47.

TO OPEN NEW STATION HE HELPED BUILD

Ross D. Schwartz can have an unusual sense of possession when he moves about in his new Sinclair service station at Biglerville.

The Upper countian can not only feel that the place is his own, but that he did most of the work in constructing it as well.

Over a year ago the former garage mechanic decided to construct a service station at Biglerville. Workmen were scarce so he and his father, Joel Schwartz, decided to pool forces.

Marshall Eck of Gettysburg was secured to lay the foundation and line out the concrete block walls and several masons were secured from Gettysburg to place the walls.

That left a lot of service station to be finished and Schwartz and his father began to itemize their experience.

A number of years back, for an uncle in Harrisburg, they had built a small garage. There was a lot of work they had done around their homes.

With that background they went ahead, poured the concrete for the floors, put in windows, painted and otherwise did the job of carpenters, painters and the like in completing the work. They even installed the steam heating plant, fixed up the washing room and the lubrication room and the office.

Schwartz, a former mechanic at the Buick Garage in Littlestown, now has his place of business at Biglerville open for customers and plans to hold a formal opening in the near future, just as soon as he secures all of the parts and materials he plans to have available.

SEES GOOD YEAR FOR TURKEYMEN

Looking forward to growing turkeys in 1949, J. E. Humphreys, poultry extension specialist of the University of Kentucky, believes 1949 looks like a good year for turkey growers.

Humphreys based his optimistic outlook on six favorable influences: 1, the 1948 crop actually turned out to be as least 10 per cent less than the 1947 crop; 2, there is a smaller than usual cold storage carryover; 3, the consumer buying power should continue to be good in 1949; 4, the general public demand should be greater in 1949 because of the momentum gained through the "Eat More Turkey" campaign sponsored by many state and national poultry and agricultural organizations, making turkey now a "year-around bird" instead of just for Thanksgiving and Christmas; 5, feed is plentiful and somewhat cheaper than last year; and 6, current prices are causing some to sell their breeding hens which may limit hatching eggs, thus

Announces Opening Of New Station

Charles R. Showers, Aspers R. 1, today announced the opening of his new Amoco service station on the Carlisle road, north of Biglerville.

A navy veteran of World War II, Showers is a native Adams countian.

The new, complete service offered by Showers' station will include tire repairs, washing, waxing, lubrication, and oil changing. A complete line of accessories, Goodyear and Amoco tires and Delco and Amoco batteries are on sale in the new building located across from the Keystone Ceramic company.

reducing the eventual crop and making prices higher.

Humphreys also warned there might be some unfavorable factors; 1, the consumer's buying power might not continue at the present high level; 2, there may be more breeding birds in flocks than now anticipated which could result in a larger crop than expected and thus result in lower prices; and 3, while feed is abundant and somewhat lower in price, a poor grain crop this year could push feed prices up again.

He suggested that turkey growers carry on as usual, filling up to capacity but not overcrowding facilities. He cautioned about increasing unless it could be done without too much cost for necessary equipment.

Growers To Open Season With Sessions Saturday

Adams county fruit growers will start off the 1949 season Saturday with their annual all-day session at Biglerville.

With last year marking a poor season, the growers will be seeking to find out, if they can, how to prevent a repetition of the uninspiring condition of last year's production. At the same time they will be setting up their organization for the coming year, with officers to be named, resolutions to be passed, and other business to be taken care of during the day-long program.

Committees to Report
Every grower and all of the orchard workers should be present for the affair, F. E. Griest, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the county association, pointed out today. The program will start at the Biglerville auditorium promptly at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Among committees scheduled to make reports at the gathering are William M. Lott, Ryland Garretson and Harry Stoner, who are the auditing committee; Donald Garretson, Fred Griest and Robert C. Lott, who comprise the nominating committee and John Wilson, Harold Steiner and Oliver J. Heacock who make up the resolutions committee.

To Dine at Musselman's
Apple, peach and cherry spray suggestions will be discussed as will orchard insects and diseases, fertility and fruit marketing. Among the speakers will be J. O. Pepper, R. S. Kirby, J. U. Reuf and R. B. Donaldson, extension specialists from State College.

Following annual custom the growers will be served dinner at the C. H. Musselman company cafeteria about 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and the afternoon session will be held at the cafeteria. A. S. Be-shore will be the principal speaker at the afternoon session.

Artificial Breeding Of Hogs Promising

Artificial breeding of hogs is still in the experimental stage out shows promise, Dr. Arthur V. Bartenslager, of Stewartstown, said at a recent joint meeting of members of seven state swine growers' associations.

Healthy parents are necessary to get healthy pigs, the speaker emphasized. He also pointed out the value of feeding, housing, and exercise in the swine program. He cautioned against overfeeding of breeding stock and stressed the need of balanced rations and exercise. Otherwise, poor breeding will result and flabby, overfat, and underexercised sows will do a poor job of raising the pigs they farrow.

Dr. Bartenslager urged eliminating both external and internal parasites to promote health and efficiency. Brucellosis should be eradicated by blood testing of breeding animals.

He said that larger litters are obtained when the sow is bred the second day of heat instead of the first, the rebreeding the third day also helps unless it means overwork for the boar. Boars used two consecutive days should be rested the third day and preferably two days before being used again.

FARMS NOW AT ALL TIME PEAK

Farm realty is now at all-time peak but the volume of sales is on the decline, either because owners are reluctant to sell even at inflated prices or because fewer prospective buyers are willing to pay those prices, according to Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension agricultural economist of the Pennsylvania State College.

Farm land prices for the United States, up 8 per cent during 1948, are 4 per cent above the previous all-time high in 1920, and 113 per cent over the prewar (1935-1939) average. Pennsylvania farms are selling at 85 per cent more than in 1935-1939.

Although farm land buyers continue to pay cash for about one-half of their purchases, Dr. Hood notes that "many buyers are operating on

Honey Production Up In Pa. In '48

Bees did an unusually large amount of swarming in 1948, mostly as a result of crowded conditions in the hive, but still managed to produce 7,482,000 pounds of honey in Pennsylvania, an increase of 657,000 pounds over 1947, according to W. W. Clarke, extension apiculturist of the Pennsylvania State College.

While the honey supply which they carry with them lasts, swarms usually can be returned to the hive with little difficulty. Clarke favors a "shoe string." The average down-payment on mortgage-financed transfers has been about 40 per cent of the purchase price, but "many sales have been made on substantially smaller down payments."

Farm land values, he points out, "usually follow the trend in farm income." This fact, he emphasizes, "should cause prospective buyers to move with considerable caution since prospects for net farm income in 1949 and the years beyond are less promising than they have been in recent years." In addition: "Farm prices have been weakening in many instances, but production costs have continued to climb."
